Digital asset management - the iBase difference

What is it that makes iBase digital asset management systems different?

Core Flexibility

As well as the standard functionality you would expect, iBase core architectural features provide the core flexibility to configure a digital asset management system, an online picture library, or photo library software to do what you want them to do - whether managing digital assets, deploying web based digital asset management, providing for federated searching, corporate brand asset management software etc...

Fully managed implementation

From the outset iBase Media Services will work with you and advise as required on all aspects of metadata structure; database configuration; technical environment; and any other related matter. In essence we provide as much support as you need to get up and running with a Digital asset management system that does exactly what you want it to do.

Competitive and clear pricing

High productivity in our delivery and support processes ensure that prices are always competitive. There are no hidden costs - prices include database design; configuration of standard features; implementation with web or intranet server deployment via remote access; basic web / intranet branding; and online training.

Quality first for delivery and support

The quality of our delivery and support services are second to none. We deliver when we say we will to your specification. For support there is no tedious online ticketing process to go through - simply ring us or send an email - we'll log your query into our report tracking system, and of course deal with it as quickly as possible.

Managed services

As well as implementing systems that are operated entirely by our clients, we also offer fully managed services to fulfil as much of the operational requirement as required.

Product development

Market sector needs are continuously reviewed and checked against technological advances, and new features are included in product updates about once a year following extensive testing. The stability of our products means there is no need to create updates every couple of months.

Focus

The focus of the business is entirely on media asset management and online media / image library systems, there are no distractions from other activities.
